Visit the New UMC.org Online Community

In January 2007, United Methodist Communications will unveil the United Methodist Church's newly redesigned online community: UMC.org. The first large-scale social networking site developed by a mainline denomination, UMC.org's online community fosters meaningful relationships within the global church community.

Establish Your Own Profile Page

Similar to other online social networks, UMC.org's online community will allow users to establish a profile page with photographs and personal information.

Build a Network of "Friends"

Users can network their profile to other member's by asking them to become a "friend." Once linked, friends can post comments on each other's pages.

Participate in Online Forums

Based on feedback from its members, UMC.org developed several online forums where people can participate in open, thoughtful discussions. Topics for online forum discussions include:

- Health and Wholeness
- Hunger Awareness
- Environment
- Human Rights
- Youth and Young Adults Ministry
- Web Ministry
- Christian Education
- Mission and Volunteering
- AIDS/HIV
- Evangelism
- Welcoming
- Prayer

Make a Difference

UMC.org's online community also has a Needs Registry where participants can reach beyond their immediate communities to a global audience. They can create online needs registries, of the resources and assistance they need, as well as search the database for volunteer opportunities.

Share Resources

Members can create and participate in communities where they can share knowledge, resources, and content with one another, helping them all grow stronger and become more effective.
